

Student Presentation Checklist

Before you begin

- Register your presentation at this link. We can then connect you to the latest resources and give you credit for your work.

What should a presentation look like?

- 5-30 minutes in class; 15-30 minutes in other venues (club meetings, information session, ice cream social; see Reach Students page on our website).
- The key message of Get the Facts Out is emphasized: Teachers in the U.S. rate their lives better than all other occupation groups, trailing only physicians.
- Accurate information about teaching as a profession is provided, including life satisfaction, salary, retirement, and student loan forgiveness.
- Comparison to industry and college faculty is provided.
- Information on teacher salaries and retirement have been updated with local data.

What should you do as a presenter?

- Create a safe and fun space for students to engage, from the start.
- Share the positive aspects of teaching as a profession that are supported by data.
- Avoid voicing misperceptions about teaching as a profession.
- If students express misperceptions about teaching as a profession, provide fact-based corrections.
- Avoid providing airtime for anecdotal aspects of teaching as a profession (which are often negative and not supported by data).

After the presentation

- If not already done, log your activity in order to receive credit and survey results.
- Fill out the self-assessment worksheet to document the event and plan for next time.

Presentation Outcomes

- 1) The audience will have positive attitudes towards teaching as a profession.
- 2) The audience will engage in ideas about teaching as a profession after the workshop (e.g., by reflecting, sharing, and engaging in conversation).
- 3) The audience will feel better prepared to make an informed choice about their career options, including teaching.

DID YOU KNOW?

Teachers in the U.S. rate their lives better than all other occupation groups, trailing only physicians.

Most teaching jobs have better retirement benefits than other jobs you can get with the same degree.

There are student loan forgiveness programs and scholarships for math and science teachers

You can get a job almost anywhere in the U.S. or abroad as a math or science teacher.
